Contest for Council Seat Between Mowrer and Bates High Point of Election Tuesday

The general election on Tuesday offers but one point of interest to Borough voters, that being the movement on foot to re-elect Clifford W. Bates to Council on the Democratic ticket.

At the primaries in September Mr. Bates lost the Republican nomination by a close margin to John A. Mowrer, Jr., but since his petition was filed on both Republican and Democratic tickets and Mr. Mowrer's only on the Republican ticket, Mr. Bates' name will appear on the ticket as a Democratic candidate for Council.

Recently a group of citizens who feel that the return of Mr. Bates to Council is a gesture towards preserving the residential character of Narberth, have solicited support in his behalf at the election on Tuesday. Mr. Mowrer, they point out, was put forth as a candidate for Council by the group who sought to change the zoning of Montgomery Avenue to a business district. The return of Mr. Bates to Council, they assert, will mean the maintenance of the residential character of the Borough, insofar as zoning regulations are concerned.

The issue, it is stated, is not one of personalities, but of fundamental policy.

Since party politics does not influence voting to any great extent where purely local offices are concerned, the outcome of this contest is being looked forward to with interest by a large body of citizens.

The regular Republican nominees for all other positions in the County are virtually assured of election and scant interest has been shown outside of the Councilmanic contest.

Plan Evening of Fun at M. E. Church

Noted Magician to Perform on Thursday in Parish Hall.

MEN'S CLUB IS SPONSOR

A program of magic, sleight of hand, song and fun will fill the evening of Thursday, November 5, beginning at 8:15 sharp, in parish hall of the Narberth M. E. Church.

The Men's Club of the church has arranged for the appearance of the magician, C. Victor Dealy, who will entertain with a number of original tricks that deceive and mystify. Mr. Dealy is a prestidigitator of exceptional ability, his clever work before the American Society of Magicians having placed him among the star performers of this generation. He is not professional but is personally known to the great magicians of America, in fact is vice-president of the American Society of Magicians and president of the Yogi Club of Magicians of Philadelphia. His work brought him into close friendship with the well-known magicians, Keller, Thurston and Houdini.

In deference to his mother's wishes Mr. Dealy refrained from following the stage, confining his work to the less public demonstrations, and in a wholly altruistic spirit. There are possibly men living in the community who will recall his entertainment in magic overseas during the war, for which the

Nancy Byrd Turner Club Speaker Tuesday

The Woman's Community Club of Narberth will hold their first meeting in November next Tuesday in the Girl Scout wing of the Narberth Community Building, at 2:30.

The speaker will be Nancy Byrd Turner, who will give a biographical sketch of her life and who will also read several of her poems. Mrs. W. J. Drennen will be the piano soloist.

Mrs. Joseph A. Hongler, president of the club, and seventeen of the members attended the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs in Pottstown, Pa., on Thursday, October 22.

Among the officers and chairmen who attended the round table conference of the Montgomery Federation of Women's Clubs in the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church on Tuesday were Mrs. J. A. Hongler, president; Mrs. Harry A. Jacobs, Mrs. Edwin C. Town, Mrs. J. W. Darville, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and Mrs. E. Guy Steinfeld.

Plan Luncheon-Bridge

A luncheon-bridge will be given by the Welfare, Civic and American Home Committees of the Women's Community Club of Narberth on Tuesday, November 10, in the Community Building. It will be for the benefit of the Narberth Health Centre. Reservations may be made through Mrs. C. A. Farmer, Mrs. J. Aiken or Mrs. W. J. Loughlin.

Needlework Guild Wednesday

A special all-day meeting of the Narberth Needlework Guild will be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Shene-man, 111 Chestnut Avenue, next Wednesday. The regular monthly meeting of the Needlework Guild, held at the home of the president, Mrs. A. H. Durboraw, on Wednesday, October 21, was very well attended.

Manuscript Writing Original Handwriting, Research Study by Narberth Girl Shows

Manuscript writing, which is now being taught in many schools in place of the traditional running hand, has a foundation in the original bookhand from which all present print and handwriting forms have evolved.

This is pointed out in a research study by Miss S. Lucia Keim, of Dudley Avenue, Narberth, entitled "The present status and significance of manuscript writing," published in the September issue of the Journal of Educational Research.

Miss Keim began this study while observing handwriting practice in English School and studying illuminated manuscripts in the British Museum. The investigation was completed in this country with a study of manuscript writing as it is taught in nearly 200 public and private schools.

Manuscript handwriting is not, Miss Keim points out, a new type of simplified handwriting nor a crutch to be taken up and laid aside in the acquiring of a legible cursive hand. It is simply a revival of the original handwriting, having a precedent in the legible and beautiful illuminated manu-

Kids Were Protected

Approximately 1000 youngsters rode on the fire apparatus last Friday and Saturday nights during the carnival. Fire Chief Charles V. Noel reports. The Chief also stated that insurance was carried both evenings to protect the riders, and that the Alliance Insurance Company had their own man riding the trucks to see that all went well.

County Aid Granted for Borough Roads

Resurfacing of Haverford and Windsor Avenues to Start Shortly.

Early this week the Borough authorities were informally advised by the County Commissioners and by officials of the State highway department that Narberth's petition for special County aid appropriation would be granted. At that time it was necessary only for the Borough to await formal ratifications from the State, and work could be started resurfacing Haverford Avenue, from Narberth to Essex Avenues, and Windsor Avenue, from Wynnewood to Conway. The work will have to be put through with the greatest possible speed because of the lateness of the season and also because the County Commissioners require that it shall all be completed within this calendar year.

This special County aid derives from an appropriation of $100,000.00 which was made this fall by the County Commissioners to aid unemployment in the County. It is apportioned among the Boroughs and Townships of the County with the proviso that the local unit shall appropriate for street work a sum equal to that granted by the County. The Borough authorities were not notified of this opportunity until the 8th of this month and it was possible for them to petition for County funds only up to the limit of Borough

Borough and School Funds Safeguarded

No Embarrassment Foreseen Due to Closing of Merion Title.

PLANS ARE INDEFINITE

No embarrassment to the Borough is foreseen by the Narberth Borough treasurer due to the closing of the Merion Title and Trust Company on Wednesday, since more funds are owed to the bank (or will be shortly in the form of notes due) than are on deposit to the Borough's credit. Tax money is coming in to meet current expenses, he pointed out, and to meet the balance due on notes.

The Narberth School District likewise, while it has some $13,000 on deposit at the Merion Title, is covered by a bond greatly in excess of that amount. A good-sized check for school taxes is anticipated in the near future, which will take care of immediate current expenses, Dr. Walter Steckbeck, treasurer of the School Board, pointed out.

No announcement of plans for reorganization of the institution, which was placed in the hands of the State Banking Department on Wednesday morning, have been forthcoming.

Access to safe deposit boxes will be granted to the public as soon as the State examiners have concluded their examination of the bank's books, an official of the institution stated yesterday.

The action of Dr. William D. Gordon, State Secretary of Banking, in

Mowrer Installed as Legion Commander

District Commander Walt Decries Misrepresentation of Legion Activities.

UPHOLDS ITS INTEGRITY

At the regular monthly meeting on Monday of the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion in Narberth, John A. Mowrer, Jr., of Montgomery Avenue, was installed as the Post commander for the coming year. Mr. Mowrer, who has been a member of the Post since its formation, has served as finance officer for eight years and as adjutant for one year. In addition, he has represented the Post at numerous State conventions and district assemblies. He is also an officer in the 40 and 8, honorary and social adjunct to the Legion.

The impressive ceremonies of installation were conducted by Leon Walt, of Royersford, commander of the Ninth District. At the same time, Commander Walt installed other newly-elected officers. Several members of the Executive Committee, and the re-elected chaplain, the Rev. Robert Keighton, who were unavoidably absent, will be installed at a later date. Monday night's ceremony installed the following officers in addition to the commander: Senior vice commander, Charles Greyer; junior vice commander, A. Perry Redifer; adjutant, Clifford Goodwin; sergeant-at-arms, Edward O. Ensinger; executive com-

In the Theater

M. L. Repertory Theatre's First Play on Wednesday

The Main Line Repertory Theatre's first play of the season, "Apron Strings," by Dorrance Davis, will be presented on Wednesday evening, November 4, at the Bala-Cynwyd Woman's Club.

A young man with the ideas of twenty years ago and a girl with the ideas of tomorrow, who fall in love with each other, are a rich source of inspiration for the playwright's pen. R. Justice Watson will be the young man, and Virginia Chewing, the girl. Margaret Craig Lank will be her mother, and John F. Graff, 3d, her father. There is an old lawyer, played by J. Bennett Colesberry, an interestingly modern woman, played by Rosemary O'Laughlin, and an old family retainer, played by Cynthia Flannery.

At the Hedgerow

Again that splendid and popular comedy of almost Elizabethan lustiness, "Roadside," by Lynn Riggs, will open a Hedgerow Theatre week when it is played next Tuesday evening, with Cele McLaughlin and Carl Reukauff in the leading roles. The play for Wednesday night will be the Spewacks airplane thriller of crooks and recrimination, "The Solitaire Man." On Thursday night, "Happy Ending," a wry-faced comedy of a pseudo-artist by Perry Ivins, will be given with Carl Reukauff, Dudley Vaughan, Alfred Rowe and Peggy Oliver in important parts.

Friday and Saturday nights will both be devoted to performances of Shaw plays. Friday will present Dudley Vaughan, as "Raina" and Ferd Nofer as the "Chocolate Cream Soldier" in the breathless comedy of Balkan war nonsense, "Arms and the Man." Saturday evening brings Dudley Vaughan, Jasper Deeter, Ferd Nofer, Alfred Rowe, Rose Henley and Carl Reukauff in "Candida," Shaw's study in the development of a sensitive and beauty-ridden soul under the influence of the right woman. The play for the Saturday matinee will be Moliere's brilliant little comedy, "The Physician in Spite of Himself" with Edward Ginsburg, Miriam Phillips, William Price and Peggy Oliver heading the cast.

At present, Hedgerow has in rehearsal Shaw's note of warning upon the gong of Europe, "Heartbreak House," and in contrast, Sheridan's gay concoction, "The Critic."

Tonight at Hedgerow the play is Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler"; also tomorrow afternoon. Tomorrow night Musselman's "Merry-Go-Round."

Esrey Named New Bell Official on Main Line

The appointment of Alexander J. Esrey as district traffic superintendent of the Main Line district of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania was announced this week by Edward M. Prisk, vice president in charge of telephone operations in Eastern Pennsylvania.

Mr. Esrey, who will be in charge of all central offices along the Main Line, takes over the duties of John C. Longstreth. Mr. Longstreth has been transferred as traffic superintendent in the Norristown district.

Mr. Esrey is a resident of Brookline and was graduated from Swarthmore College in 1923. In that year he entered the telephone company in Philadelphia, holding positions in the traffic department there and in Eastern Pennsylvania until two years ago when he was transferred to the Diamond State Telephone Company as district traffic superintendent.

Both appointments became effective on Monday of this week.

Chevalier, Barthelmess and Bennetts at Narberth

Amusing, sophisticated comedy is "The Smiling Lieutenant," Ernst Lubitsch's diverting production, in which Maurice Chevalier is starring at the Narberth Theatre this week-end. Claudette Colbert and Miriam Hopkins head a brilliant supporting cast, and Charles Ruggles has a brief and amusing part.

Celebrating its anniversary, the Narberth Theatre next week will offer three more in its series of unusually good shows. Monday and Tuesday, Richard Barthelmess will give an out-of-the-ordinary performance in the true-to-human-nature war film, "The Last Flight." Starting Wednesday, adult admirers of the Bennett family will like Constance and her father, Richard, in "Bought." On Friday and Saturday, Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell will entertain all ages in "Merely Mary Ann."

'Sporting Blood,' 'Bad Girl,' 'Silence' at Egyptian

If you like horse races, Southern scenes, good characterization and an unusually pleasing and exciting plot, you'll like "Sporting Blood," in which Clark Gable, Madge Evans and Ernest Torrence appear at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday.

"Bad Girl," at Cynwyd next Monday and Tuesday, will probably be voted one of the year's best films. Adapted from Vina Delmar's novel, it is convincingly acted by James Dunn and Sally Eilers. "Silence," the Egyptian's feature next Wednesday only, is an exciting drama about a lawyer, Clive Brook. On Thursday only, Adolph Menjou will appear in "The Great Lover," which is not up to the Menjou standard. Friday and Saturday next, is coming an Oriental thriller, distinguished for its very capable cast: Warner Oland, Anna May Wong and Sessue Hayakawa, in "Daughter of the Dragon."

Play to Aid Holiday House and Home for the Aged

"Ada Beats the Drum" will be presented by the Play and Players of Philadelphia in the Bellevue-Stratford Auditorium on Tuesday evening, November 3, at 8:15 o'clock for the benefit of the King's Daughters' Holiday House at Valley Forge and the Home for the Aged on Sabine Avenue, Narberth. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Fred Derby, 124 Narberth Avenue.

On November 12 the King's Daughters have planned a Harvest Home Day for the Home for the Aged in Narberth. It will be open house all day and luncheon will be served for which there will be a slight charge. There will also be a number of articles on sale for the benefit of the home.

The Montgomery Union of King's Daughters held an all-day and evening meeting on Thursday, October 22, at the Church of the Saviour. There was a good attendance and a number of fine speakers. The County Union paid for the hauling of the evergreens which have been recently planted on the lawn of the Home for the Aged, Narberth.

Any one desiring to make a contribution to the Home for the Aged or Holiday House may do so through Mrs. Derby.

was developed."

"Whether or not this course is to be lamented," Miss Keim continues, "certain it is that the characteristics of many individual letters are impaired through the joinings, and it is common knowledge that in rapid cursive knowledge the distinguishableness of entire letters is often completely lost."

Manuscript writing, the study points out, was revived in England over thirty years ago and was introduced in the United States from there ten years ago. Nearly 200 schools in this country, the great majority of them private schools, have introduced this method of writing within this period.

Dreams of Many Lower Merion Youths Have Come to Pass on Franklin Field

It's a cool October afternoon. The huge concrete horseshoe is alive with eager, excited, cheering thousands. The bands are brilliant with their showy uniforms and their prancing drum majors. Carelessly dressed undergraduates with buttons usher the people to their seats with an air of official dignity. There are feathers and hotdogs, "Illustrated" and roasted peanuts, cheerleaders and megaphones.

Finally the flying footballs cease to rise; the four white-clad umps meet in a conference with the captains; the teams line up; a whistle toots and the great game is on. Suddenly fifty thousand fans go cockeyed with joy as some favorite half-back weaves his way through a maze of uniformed giants to plant a pigskin, cleverly disguised as a football, in the far end-zone for a touchdown.

Yes, it's Franklin Field, the mecca of every athlete in Eastern Pennsylvania and farther, who has an eye to the future and a dream in his soul.

What schoolboy athlete sitting in those huge stands but looks into the future and pictures himself as the speeding halfback who carries that ball to victory? What giant linesman for the Maroon and White, or the Red and Gold, but sees in himself the boy who blocked the kick that brought victory to his Alma Mater on the chalk-ribbed grass at Franklin Field? It has traditions for generations of just that very thing. Many a local boy has grown up in the shadow of that ancient stronghold of Penn athletics to carry his courage and skill to the enemy on its soil and bring renown to his Alma Mater, be it Penn, or Lehigh, or some other college in more distant fields.

Many boys from Lower Merion have had that dream and seen it fulfilled. That speeding halfback may have been "Bud" Kohlhas, star quarterback at Lower Merion, and later filling the same position at Navy in a splendid manner. Who will forget his plunging figure as he reeled off three first downs in succession in the Penn-Navy game two years ago? John Harris played for Lehigh against Penn a couple of years ago. On the other side of the line, representing the Red

Describes electrification. John Van Buren Duer, of Merion, electrical engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad, lectured before the Franklin Institute Thursday night on the Pennsylvania's electrification between New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington. Mr. Duer traced the history of the program since its inception in 1928. It will be in regular daily operation early in 1933, he stated.

Ardmore Man Author of Pioneering Volume

A book on "Noise and Vibration Engineering," the first in its field, has just been published by an Ardmore man, Stephen E. Slocum, of 244 East Montgomery Avenue.

While it is more or less technical in nature, it deals with a subject whose importance is just being realized by the public. It makes available in book form material which heretofore has been found only in scientific journals.

Some of the subjects covered are vibration insulation of tall buildings, vibration due to street traffic, subway noise and vibration, machinery insulation, and a chapter on the economic aspect of noise abatement.

The author, a consulting engineer, taught mechanics and marine engineering at the University of Pennsylvania for 20 years. He was recently employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad in connection with the terminal development.

Mr. Slocum has written six other books, one of them a novel of the sea, and in addition nearly seventy other publications, chiefly articles and monographs of a scientific and engineering nature. He has lived in Ardmore for the past eleven years.

The Other Side

To the Editor of Our Town:
In reply to "Taxpayer's" letter, regarding the inability of certain of our Italian citizens to find employment with the borough, I wish to state that there are two sides to every picture.

I have been an employee of the borough for nineteen years and know whereof I write. During prosperous times these unemployed Italian citizens, who are nearly all tradesmen, were reaping a harvest, working night and day for high wages. At the same time the borough was forced to hire outsiders, because these same unemployed Italians scoffed at the idea of working for the borough when work could be obtained elsewhere at much higher wages. Now that work is scarce these "citizens" envy us and our jobs even though we have been working only three days per week.

We did not ask them to share their high wages with us. We have served, and will continue to serve the borough, faithfully, to the best of our ability.

Is it fair that they should cast such envious eyes towards our humble jobs now?

"Another Taxpayer."

Make Your Guess—Win a Cash Prize—Name the Narberth Players' Club

Hurry—time is fleeting—soon the choice will be made! Give a guess for the name by which the Narberth Players' Association, the new dramatic group in town, will henceforth be known. The prize will be given on the night of the performance of "Bilked," the first vehicle chosen for presentation by the group. Ten dollars will be given to the person submitting the name chosen—provided he or she is in the audience. If the award is to someone not in attendance, it will be $5.00. That makes it additionally attractive to be among those present on the opening night, but besides, there will be other headliners to draw your attention. First, the show itself. It's a real blood-curdling, stirring mystery show, the kind you can't solve until the last word is spoken, and its author, Mr. Ullman, of the Swarthmore Players, is helping to direct the production to see that every little detail is correct.

Then the celebrated producer, Mr. Shubert, is to be in the audience, for it is whispered he has designs upon the play and—perhaps—some of the players, who knows? Narberth names may flash on Broadway as a result of his visit. So on such an important occasion it behooves us to be present and see some Borough history made. For this players' group is considering staying in the show business for many years to come—and its first night WILL be history.

Drop your suggestion in the boxes which are placed in most of the town's shops and in the Postoffice. Attend the show and perhaps win the $10.

It was formerly announced that the performance would be held two nights, but circumstances make it advisable to say one night, and that will be November 13. A good night for a mystery play—Friday the 13th!

State Regent Guest at D. A. R. Luncheon

Dr. Rush Chapter Observes
Tenth Anniversary Last Saturday.

FOUNDERS ARE PRESENT

The Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter at Narberth, of the Daughters of the American Revolution, was ten years old last Saturday. The anniversary was celebrated with a luncheon at the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church at which many honored guests were present.

Among them were Mrs. Joseph M. Caley, State Regent of the D. A. R.; Mrs. N. Howland Brown, vice president general of the organization; Mrs. Samuel Z. Shope, past president general of the Daughters of 1812 and organizing regent of the Dr. Rush Chapter; Mrs. Charles M. Irwin, past regent of the chapter; and the present officers, Mrs. Hugh Glenn Martin, regent; Mrs. Harry M. Chalfant, 1st vice regent; Mrs. Stewart Anderson, 2d vice regent; Mrs. Thomas Dunlap, secretary; Mrs. Addie K. Hewitt, treasurer; and Mrs. Samuel MacAdams, chaplain.

Six of the twelve charter members of the organization present at the luncheon were Mrs. C. Arley Farmer, Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. Chalfant, Mrs. Irwin, Mrs. John Nash and Miss Emma Hewitt. A resume of the history of the chapter was given by Mrs. Shope, who organized it in 1921.

Mrs. Caley, the state regent, told of the proposed park at Fort Necessity, of the coming state conference at Pittsburgh on November 11th, and of the eastern division meeting scheduled for November 19th and 20th in Philadelphia, at which the hostesses will be members of the Regents Club of Philadelphia and vicinity.

Mrs. Brown, the second speaker, described her impressions of the Yorktown Bi-Centennial celebration which she and Mrs. Caley attended the previous week. Plans for the congress of the D. A. R. in Washington in April, 1932, were also outlined. A plea was made for pieces of knitting yarn for immigrants who are taught knitting, she said, while waiting for their papers at Ellis Island.

The name "General John Knox" was first selected for the Narberth Chapter but since this had previously been chosen by a chapter in Maine, it became necessary to choose another. Dr. Benjamin Rush, famous physician of the Revolution, was eventually adopted.

Mrs. MacAdams was the soloist at the affair, her selections being "Trees," and "The Birthday." Miss Celeste Warren was the accompanist.

Mulieres to Elect Officers on Monday, November 9th

The Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company will resume their regular monthly meetings, the first one to be held in Elm Hall on Monday afternoon, November 9, at 2 o'clock, when an election of officers for the coming year will take place. Mrs. J. J. Findeison is chairman of the nominating committee. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, president of the Mulieres, is planning to give a tea in November for the workers in the Firemen's Carnival, which was held last Friday and Saturday in Elm Hall. This gala event was an extremely successful affair, the proceeds of which will be announced later.

The board of directors held a meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, on Essex Avenue, on Wednesday.

Comments on Propaganda Work of Local Catholic Committee.

Chesterton has said, among the very many things he has said, that the only two topics in the world worth talking about were religion and politics, but it is a hazardous soul who dares either subject in the ordinary contacts of everyday existence. Nevertheless, a fine and honest controversy is unexcelled in its ability to draw deep on the intellectual and spiritual resources of competent men, but the demagogue also has a real value in the national scheme when he stirs to answer and action protagonists whose worthy skill would be forever latent if there were no occasion for their time and talents. Indeed, it can be said that many of the outstanding leaders in American annals, at least in the periods immediately preceding and succeeding the Civil War, were first brought forth from quieter lives to make war on the demagogues, and some observers are not reluctant to claim that the inconsequential calibre of the present crop of pseudo-leaders is chiefly accountable for the admittedly dull-edged basis of a great deal of the public procedure in this country today, but that may be, and no doubt is, an altogether far-fetched theory.

At the shank-end of the last Presidential contest, a few Catholic men in Narberth essayed the risk of bringing the facts of their case to their neighbors of other persuasions and ever since that time they have continued the procedure, making mailings monthly, with results which give evidence that they have quite evaded the dynamite of the occasion and secured an exceedingly favorable reception for what they had to offer.

The plan had its genesis, as might be expected, in the conspicuous part which religion played in the campaign, bringing to light, according to the Catholic men, many weird notions of Catholic beliefs and the Catholics' status in American life, and it was claimed that inaccurate information was so widespread, and so destructive of community concord and harmony, that a civic duty was incumbent on them to try to straighten out, for the sake of national peace and unity, the confusion which abounded and to help restore a greater degree of mutual tolerance.

It is evident they were not disposed to observe Hillaire Belloc's dictum to be content by merely saying "it ain't so," and saying it a thousand times, as their attractive literature makes it plain that they were out to do their job in a patient and painstaking fashion, setting forth authoritative facts in a simple and good-natured way, and respecting the other fellow's beliefs in a manner which impelled respect for their own.

From all reports, the venture has been signally successful and what has come to be known as the "Narberth Plan" (the nation-wide name predicted for it at the beginning) is being discussed, it is said, in every part of the Union and not infrequently, it is stated, correspondence flows in from countries outside the United States. Certainly, the procedure would appear distinctly American in its essence and its fulfillment is a high tribute to the town itself, as it open-mindedly listens to a counter viewpoint, and also to the skill of the sponsors in getting themselves so freely heard.

The man who probably applies himself most to the amazing detail of it all is Karl Rogers, over on Baird Road, a son of the late Colonel John T. Rogers, one of the owners of the old Phillies, who gave the Athletics their immortal designation of "White Elephants." Mr. Rogers is an advertising man of wide experience and knows his America extraordinarily well.

Joseph S. Dougherty, who formerly lived on Anthwyn Road, but who now resides in a fine home on the Thouron acres along Meadow Lane,

Barred Doors Which Must Open Again

Seven million, three hundred thousand dollars was suddenly withdrawn from circulation on the Main Line Wednesday morning, when the affairs of the Merion Title and Trust Company were turned over to the State Banking Department. Worse than that, a valuable and necessary banking convenience was suspended.

Business men and householders of the Main Line, stunned by the closing of the largest banking institution between Philadelphia and Lancaster, are asking "How will it work out?" That question will remain unanswered until many days have been spent in study of the bank's books.

But while we await a report on the situation, many are looking beyond the actual closing. They are brushing aside the stereotyped phrases: Seepage of Deposits, Frozen Assets, Hysteria, Hundred Cents on the Dollar, etc. Rather they are wondering how quickly the Main Line will again have full banking service—how quickly a reorganization and reopening can be effected, for certainly the gap must be filled somehow.

The Main Line, particularly in its eastern portion, is far from overbanked. The Bala-Cynwyd National and the Ardmore Title and Trust were both merged with the Merion Title, leaving only that bank and the recently established Counties Title and Trust Company in Ardmore, and the Narberth National Bank in Narberth. Until the affairs of the Merion Title are settled, Bala-Cynwyd will be left without a local bank; Narberth will be better off, having the friendly and conservative National; Ardmore will have but one small bank instead of the three which functioned a year ago.

From this it is obvious that an active need exists for the banking facilities which are now suspended. No public hysteria can long deny the demand of business for a place to transact its financial affairs. The money withdrawn from circulation by Wednesday's events is not "lost." It must be restored to service.

The Main Line suffers today in the same way that many other sections have suffered, and must face the immediate future with common sense and courage. Two small banks cannot serve the tremendous commercial needs of this eastern Main Line section unaided. The reopening of the Merion Title and Trust Company, or the creation of a successor, must be our immediate concern.

Noise and Modern Life

The effect of noise on comfort and relaxation has been noted by every resident of a city or built-up suburban section. It has remained for a Main Line man to show in accurate and complete form the extent of the noise nuisance, and its full effect upon the average human being. The subject is discussed in a new book—"Noise and Vibration Engineering," by Stephen E. Slocum, Ph. D., of Ardmore.

The study, based on actual measurements of the comparative intensity of various common sounds, tends to confirm a feeling we have all had—that most of the racket which jars the nerves and ruins concentration comes from traffic. New York found that some 53% of the 11,000-odd complaints arose from that source.

The effect of this noise is forcibly emphasized by the author. "The strain on the nervous system frequently leads to neurasthenic and psychasthenic conditions, and in extreme cases results in complete nervous breakdown and even suicide," he says. Transportation of various kinds, and building operations, with their jarring riveters are given much of the blame.

While Dr. Slocum's studies are based largely on city conditions, the principles developed are equally applicable to the suburbs. Most of us live on the Main Line to get away from city noises, but a few hours spent in a busy part of any town will quickly show that we dwell in an atmosphere far from bucolic.

Events in Brief

Merion girl robbed. Miss Mildred Feely, of Meeting House Lane, Merion, was held up and robbed of $5000 worth of jewelry by two bandits on Belmont Avenue near St. Asaph's road, Bala, early Wednesday morning. She was returning to her home from Philadelphia when a large sedan forced her to come to a stop. While one of the bandits remained in the car, the other took her pocketbook, two rings and two pins at the point of a gun. After thanking her and telling her to "drive straight home," the robbers disappeared in their machine in the direction of Philadelphia. Miss Feely went home and the Lower Merion police were immediately notified. She is the daughter of Joseph A. Feely, an official of the Atlantic Refining Company.

Gunplay. When three men walked into the Oriental rug establishment of an Ardmore merchant at 317 West Lancaster Avenue on Monday afternoon, one of them flourishing a gun, the young proprietor, Nick Bezer, ran to the rear of his store, grabbed a revolver from a table, and fired two shots at random. The men fled, and, following them to the street, with his brother, Bezer fired another shot at their car. "I believe it was a straight attempt at hold-up," he said. One of his shots hit the ceiling, another crashed through the plate glass window, frightening passersby and the third is believed to have lodged in the car of the would-be bandits.

Fire loss $50,000. A blaze Sunday afternoon on "Lister Farms," between Newtown Square and Paoli, owned by Miss Rebecca J. Austin and William L. Austin, of Rosemont, destroyed a large stone and frame barn, causing damage estimated at $50,000. Six fire companies responded to the general alarm.

Praises MacDonald. In a talk at the regular meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club on Tuesday evening, Samuel M. Vauclain, of Rosemont, referred to Ramsay MacDonald as the financial saviour of England. "There is no doubt about his wisdom and the advisability of his economic measures in reducing the doles and cutting down governmental expenditures," he declared.

Celebrates 150th anniversary. The old Radnor Methodist Episcopal Church on Conestoga Road near Bryn Mawr observed its 150th anniversary last Sunday with special services of rededication. The building, one of the oldest Methodist churches in America, has recently been renovated and restored. Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, head of the Methodist Church in the Philadelphia area, preached the anniversary sermon, contrasting the present achievements of Christianity with the difficulties encountered by pioneer leaders of the Church in America.

Lectures on England. A public lecture on Tudor England was delivered at Rosemont College on Sunday by Mother Mary Lawrence, S. H. C. J. It was the first of a series to be given at the college once a month through the fall and winter months.

Youth to the fore. Young people in Europe are assuming more civic and state responsibilities than at any other time in the world's history, declared Miss Martha Root, internationally-known lecturer and traveler, in a lecture at Haverford College on Tuesday night. Miss Root recently returned to this country after a speaking tour of France, Germany and Russia.

Episcopalians lead. A survey of the religious affiliations of students at Haverford College made recently showed that Episcopalians led other denominations with 73. Presbyterians came next with 70. Other denominations in order are: Friends, 59; Methodists, 31; Congregationalists, 16; Jews, 10; Lutherans, 9; Christian Scientists, 7; Baptists, 7; Roman Catholics, 6; Unitarians, 5; Reformed, 4; United Presbyterians, 4; Greek Orthodox, 2; Disciples, 1, and New York Community Church, 1. Only four professed no religious affiliations. Last year's census showed a majority of Presbyterians.

More Than Half the Women in Every Community Should Wear Half Sizes in COATS

FOR years and years the ready-to-wear industry has been operating on the assumption that regular sizes 36, 38 and 40, etc., represented the average figures. But they don't. We have been learning things during those years . . . Now one of our most successful coat buyers comes across with these words of wisdom: "If half the women who are wearing regular-size coats would wear half sizes, they would look better and save a lot of the money spent for alterations."

Lower Merion Faces Stern Foe in Abington High

This is a good week for upsets to occur. Penn is tackling a strong team from Lafayette College, and though the Red and Blue are supposedly stronger than the Easton boys, the latter will be in a fine position to upset the dope. With several star sophomore backs and a veteran line, and also a placement kicker of extraordinary ability in Alan Cook, of Lower Merion, Lafayette will have Harman and his boys on the alert.

Lower Merion is the underdog in the game with Abington High at Old York Road. The Maroon team is still green, and Adam will be unable to have his full strength in the line-up, but just the same the local lads have a way of coming through in a pinch at unexpected moments. Abington should win on her past record, and it is hard to dope the outcome. Lower Merion may go up there and take a severe lacing, and then again Abington may have a tough time winning at all. It's hard to unravel this game, and you may toss your own coin.

Haverford School will tackle Episcopal Academy. The former school is rated to win easily, but here is another chance for an upset. The light squad from Episcopal is heady and fast. Maybe Coach Wallace may get a surprise.

Haverford High should win handily at Cheltenham. Radnor should win by five or six touchdowns against Lansdowne. Bucknell with Hinkle may upset Villanova. It has been done. Haverford College will have to hustle to win against Hopkins.

Wildcats Have Field Day; Meet Bucknell Saturday

Against Baltimore University last Saturday Villanova rolled up the largest score ever made by a Wildcat eleven, scored nine touchdowns, five points after touchdown, a safety; used virtually every man on the squad; registered twenty-five first downs. Final score, 61-6.

This Saturday at Scranton Villanova will face sterner opposition from Bucknell. The result of this game will provide interesting sidelights on the forthcoming Temple-Villanova struggle as Bucknell and Temple battled to a scoreless tie recently.

Superior power in the line and speed in the backfield enabled Trinity to score a 25-0 victory over Haverford College at Hartford, Conn., last Saturday. Pleasants, Haverford fullback, stood out for the visitors, being the only back able to gain consistently. Haverford meets Johns Hopkins at home this Saturday.

Haverford School Beats Germantown for 3d Win

Haverford School continued its winning ways in the Inter-Academic League by bowling over Germantown

Academy last Friday, despite determined opposition, to keep its slate clean. Score, 7-0. Captain "Ippy" Roulon-Miller again starred for the Main Line team.

Episcopal's hopes for the season were definitely quashed when Friends' Central steam-rolled to a 32-0 victory over the churchmen. Important cogs in the Friends' attack were Husky Burke, former West Catholic ace, and Ben Hocking.

Montgomery School's young and light team was again submerged, this time by Penn Charter, 40-0. It was the little Quakers' first win in league competition.

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Lower Merion's future opponents all won the past week-end with the exception of Upper Darby, which team lost to Norristown, 12 to 6, another one of the Maroon's stumbling blocks before the moleskins are put away for the winter season.

Abington overwhelmed Wilmington High 32 to 0; Radnor defeated Cheltenham, an improved team, 14 to 0. Abington not only has an undefeated team, but they have not been scored upon in five games.

Lower Merion's play at Lansdowne does not offer much for optimism with a tough battle with a formidable Abington team coming tomorrow at the Old York Road battlefield.

Jim Davis and Ly Suloff, coaches extraordinary of the scrubs at Lower Merion, put their charges through a stiff game with the Lansdowne second team Monday afternoon on Pennypacker Field. The local door-mats won the tiff, 19 to 0. The game was featured by the ball carrying and tackling of Coffman and Hoffman, both of the Maroon team. Coffman's defensive work was excellent, while he also had several long runs off-tackle. Hoffman did most of his gaining on sweeping end runs.

Davis has the best scrub team that has represented the local colors in a great many years. The boys sent up from last year's Junior High team have helped to round out a strong combination, and with this season's experience should be quite an addition to Adam's varsity next fall.

Upper Darby High finally scored a touchdown, the first of the season, and this was a deserved one against Norristown. Montgomery School still lacks the punch to ring up a score.

Friends' Central won over Episcopal Academy, 32 to 0. This, of course, was the rebound after losing to Haverford School the week previous. Coach "Doc" Wallace has a strong organization at Haverford. The team of pluggers take the game as something to be done with in a hurry. They take the ball down the field for a touchdown, kick the extra point and then settle down in a watchful-waiting manner for the rest of the time. This has worked with precision thus far. They have been unscored upon, and have won the first five games on their schedule, with the exception of Germantown Friends by a one-touchdown margin. They could not help but ring up the score against the latter, 33 to 0.

Unless there is an unexpected reversal Haverford School should win the league diadem this season. Over-confidence may exact its toll here as it has done elsewhere, though.

The Lower Merion Junior High Leopards meet a tough assignment this afternoon in Haverford Junior High with the strongest team the juniors have had at South Ardmore in many years. The game will be played on Pennypacker Field.

and Blue, we find such names as Gene Kuen and Folwell Scull. Gene was a reliable tackle for two years. Folwell Scull was a wonderful end. But it was Paul Scull who achieved stardom and brought undying fame as he wore the colors of Penn. Paul was All-American in his senior year, captained the team, and brought victory from defeat almost single-handed as he scored the winning points against the University of Chicago in the final minutes of play. It was Paul, who, as a sophomore, watched the big Cornell team from Ithaca run up a ten-to-nothing score against his teammates. Then with only a few minutes to go, he was rushed into the game and after a teammate had made a brilliant forty-yard run for a touchdown and kicked the extra point, the Lower Merion lad kicked a forty-yard dropkick and tied the game. His share of dreams came true with some to spare.

Others who have had the opportunity to play on Franklin Field are "Egg" Morris and Johnny Jones while playing with Haverford College, Lard Cunningham with F. and M. for the past two years, Jim Turner with Swarthmore in the first game of the season this fall. Tomorrow will find another famous son of the Maroon and White getting his chance. And Penn had best fear this new lad who plays his first game at Franklin Field. It is Alan Cook, star tackle and field goal specialist of Lafayette College. Alan is a senior at the Easton Institution, and he captained the Lower Merion football and basketball teams in his senior year here. He is a splendid athlete and gentleman, and his skill as a place kicker is well known. Alan lives in Merion.

Johnny Pennypacker, another of last year's Maroon stars, is on the Penn Freshman team, and it is only a matter of time till another youthful dream will come true.

Last Saturday the Cardinals won their third straight victory by defeating St. Barhard's Alumni. "Pete" Curran, the burley tackle of the Cardinals, took the opening kickoff and raced sixty yards for a touchdown. His great interference paved the way for two more made by "Sexy" Kane, the end for the Cardinals. The other touchdowns were scored by Donahue, Keim 2, W. Kane, Smith and Stroup.

Take Care of Your Car and It Will Take Care of You

The care you give your car now will mean much to the service that it will give you this winter. Every moving part of your car needs a certain amount of oil and grease to reduce friction. Why not save large repair bills in the future by having your car lubricated regularly in a scientific way?

Now Sunshine Service at Montgomery Pike and Narberth Avenue makes a study of proper lubrication for each car. We lubricate by a chart recommended by the manufacturer of your car.

We keep a record and remind you by mail when your car should be lubricated again or the oil changed.

All cars are $1 for the lubrication, and 25c per pound extra for rear or transmission grease. By the way, we are furnishing a special grease for free-wheeling cars. And this lubrication for all cars is guaranteed for a thousand miles.

Come in today and get started the right way.—R. Roy Kessinger. (Adv.)

Sales, Window Displays Interest at Hallowe'en

Through a misunderstanding on our part, last week no advertisement in "Our Town" told of a paint sale and demonstration in his hardware store, W. H. Haws told us this week that it did not nearly come up to the success of a former sale, which was advertised in this paper. Which is what we call a left-handed pat on the back.

And on the other hand, John Drizin, whose ads last week in "Our Town" announced a two-week clearance sale of shoes for men, women and young folks, has met with considerable success. His sale continues next week, with Enna Jettick, Bostonians, etc., among the good assortment of shoes in broken-up sizes that are being offered at a considerable saving.

A reduction in price is offered by the Narberth Pastry Shoppe (which we always feel like rhyming with hockey), in all its pies—large and medium-size ones. Following the ad which Mr. and Mrs. Tietz ran in "Our Town" last week, telling of their unusually delicious crullers, so many requests were made for them over the week-end, that Mr. and Mrs. Tietz told us hereafter in mentioning the crullers to say they are made only on Tuesdays and Thursdays. (Although it is quite possible that the days may be extended, if enough coaxing is done by you and you and you.)

Roy Kessinger, of the Sunshine Service Station, at Montgomery and Narberth Avenues, has gone into the battery business. Firestones, made by the Firestone tire people, may now be purchased from the genial Roy and his unusually courteous and pleasant assistants.

Among the most pleasing Hallowe'en window displays this week were those of Harry Hamer's food shop, and Ye Oddity Shoppe (which we always feel like rhyming with hockey—lovers as we are of good American as opposed to antique English). Speaking of Hallowe'en windows, we have yet to see a festival occasion go by, without an appropriate display by Cotter's, Davis', Whiteside's, White's Sweet Shop, and a couple other enterprising stores here. How do you like their windows this week?

For the windows least effectively decorated, as we write this early in the week, we present "Our Town's" nicely printed medal of ice to Mr. Thomas of the clothing store next door to Hewitt's. When we told Mr. Thomas this week that his window was better displayed than usual, but even so, very poorly displayed, he replied that he sprays it each morning, and wanted to know where we saw any flies. After we explained that what we meant was that the window was not so arranged as to attract attention, he said "I don't know why not; I've got lots of things in it—lots of things!"

Because we are interested in seeing all deserving Narberth business people getting along well, we appreciated the criticism made by a reader of "Our Town" more than half a year ago, of the condition of Haverford Avenue at that time. Recently a gradual and very noticeable improvement has been made in the appearance of most stores on the street, and today commendation is very much in order for the pride shown by business folk in their shops. It is to be hoped window displays will continue improving, and that stocks will continue becoming more diversified and complete, in order that Narberth may be as nearly self-contained a shopping center as possible. That will work to the good of the residents and business folk alike.—(By T. A. E.)

Watch Teamwork, Says Radnor Coach at Rotary

While it may be the thing for a golfer to keep his eye on the ball, a different technic is advised for the spectator at a football game by Jules Prevost, coach at Radnor High School. Mr. Prevost, a former All-American tackle at Penn State, was the speaker Tuesday before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club.

Rather than watch the ball, he said, watch the teamwork. This is the plan followed by scouts who are on the watch for the enemy's plays. By keeping the eye on the entire play as it develops, the speaker said, the spectator has a chance to catch some of the details of the kaleidoscopic movement which constitutes a football play.

The coach denied that too much emphasis is laid on football. "The players enjoy every minute of it," he said. He called attention to the greatly changed attitude in modern football, and brought out the fact that sportsmanship and scholastic ability are developed. There is a much greater degree of co-operation between coach and faculty, he said.

Mr. Prevost, after commenting that he felt as though he were speaking in the enemy's territory, paid high tribute to Lower Merion's deceptive system of play, which follows to some extent the system of Pop Warner. He concluded with an outline of the function of each man on a team.

Dr. Carl White, who recently sold his house in Penn Valley, has moved his office from 134 North Narberth Avenue to his new home, the northwest corner of Windsor and Essex Avenues. The property has been leased through Robert J. Nash from Dr. William Zentmayer, who has bought and occupied a new home on Forest Road, Merion.

Site Selected for New Bryn Mawr Post Office

The old home of the Bryn Mawr Trust Company, on Bryn Mawr Avenue, Bryn Mawr, just off Lancaster Pike, has been accepted by the U. S. Treasury Department as the site for the new Bryn Mawr Post Office.

Work of razing the old building will begin shortly and plans for the new post office structure are taking shape. It will be approximately 70 x 90 feet, of Colonial design and one story in height. The appropriation amounts to $175,000.

"Anna Mary: A Story of the '90's for Older Girls," by Mary Biddle Fitler. (Harper, $2.)

Reviewed by JUDSON LAIRD

Once upon a time hundreds of years ago in a land millions of miles from here, in fact, in the land of our parents thirty seasons past, girls believed in the stork until the day they were married.

There was Anna Mary Canby, for instance. Fourteen years old, one day she threw down her paper dolls in unreasoning disgust and never touched them again except to hide them forever in the third-story loft. It was at this moment that Mary Fitler picked up Anna Mary's life skein. Mrs. Fitler then proceeds to weave a humanly interesting narrative continuing until the day her ugly duckling heroine is transformed into the beautiful swan and becomes happily engaged at the age of eighteen.

Mrs. Fitler, brought up in a secluded country town, has brought the knowledge of her own girlhood into the story of Anna Mary. In such a town, River-ton, N. J., a girl got to know the butcher, the baker, the neighborhood children, the whims and beauties of the broad-bosomed Delaware River and everything except life in its more intimately personal aspects.

It is almost inconceivable that girls could remain as sheltered as they were in the so-called gay, purple or naughty nineties. But they were. We have not only Mrs. Fitler's word for it but authority from many others.

The story of Anna Mary is not only one which will interest girlhood for the youthful adventuring of its heroine, but one which will recall that strangely exciting period in the lives of mothers. Anna Mary, skinny, unattractive, with her ash-blond hair hanging straight down her back, had, nevertheless, an inner fire and a strength of mind which ultimately brought her poise, confidence and an attraction for her friends which was doubly valuable because it was not superficial. Nature took care of her looks, transforming her with the arrival of womanhood.

Psychologists, no doubt, would be interested in the development of Anna Mary's problems. But it will be girls of Anna Mary's own age who will thrill to her cruise in a sailboat on which a spiteful boy had thought to maroon her. Anna Mary came through that adventure with flying colors.

It is an absolutely true picture of the times with many of the characters and incidents drawn from real life, according to Mrs. Fitler. Her own girlhood in similar circumstances and her motherhood in this modern age are combined to give a view on those strangely secretive times that is immensely important. Old prejudices, like old love affairs, are soon forgotten and it is unusual for people to get an authentic account of what later are casually termed phenomena.

Mrs. Fitler has not confined herself to writing three successful novels. She has raised four sons and a daughter and now has two grandchildren. Also, for the past five years she has been chairman of the Devon Horse Show and Country Fair, directing the work of a hundred women in the annual society and charity affair. She is a member of the Bryn Mawr Hospital board of trustees and takes an active interest in its problems. Her home, "In-Wood," is on Cherry Lane, Wynnewood.

"Reddy," Mrs. Fitler's first book, was written for her sons and dedicated to them. Published by Harper, it has become a best seller and has been printed in several editions other than that of the ordinary popular price copy. She dedicated her second book, "Kid," to her daughter. "Anna Mary," which has just been published, is the third. All three books have been published within the past two years and all have been well-received.

MARY BIDDLE FITLER
of Wynnewood, whose new book, "Anna Mary," has just been published.

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

Will it ever rain?

And where is that promised frost?

Not that we insist on the frost. Indian summer is very pleasant and easy on the coal pile but freezing weather is due about this time and we want to get the dahlias and glads out of the way and finish up the fall planting.

It may be a weakness but we insist on admiring the fall coloring of foliage. While the beauty is somewhat fleeting the same is true of many of the most enjoyable experiences of the gardener's life in living from season to season. Always changing, every season a new picture, looking forward to a bigger and better garden, or a better landscape, the gardener has many things to live for and many lessons to learn from nature. True, there is a note of somberness in the falling leaves and approaching winter but our winter season is so short and our gardening season so long that we need time to rest and plan and study while our plants enjoy their winter sleep.

There is a principle in forcing bulbs indoors that must be considered. First, the bulbs require a long time under cool, moist dark conditions to make root growth. Secondly, the bulbs require a shorter time under warmer and lighter conditions to start to make foliage. A window without direct sun is best. Third, the bulbs want heat and sunlight to make flowers. Moderate moisture is at all times essential, remembering that we are trying to imitate nature and are reproducing indoors the slowly warming soil and lengthening days of spring-time outdoors. The flower is already in the bulb when we start it. Rich soil is not necessary. Bulb fibre will grow any bulb that will stand forcing in soil or in pebbles and water. Forced bulbs are of little value for flowering again as the new bulb has not been built up with good soil and warm, moist air with perfect drainage such as would be found outdoors.

By burning leaves and using the ashes as fertilizer we return to the soil certain minerals that were taken from it by the plant. We waste the most valuable parts of the leaves, the fleshy tissues that go to make humus, and this humus, or leaf mold, is one of the finest soil makers that may be had.

Leaves should be composited, mixed with soil and allowed to remain uncovered for a year or more, and returned to the soil according to nature's scheme of annual feeding by conserving the fallen leaves. Many gardens do not adapt themselves to compost piles but where such conservation is possible it pays big dividends. The space required is not great as a seemingly large quantity of leaves may be made quite compact if weighted down with soil and thoroughly wetted.

The year 1932 marks the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington. A movement is under way to celebrate the event by the planting of trees as living memorials to this great citizen who was also a great gardener. And what citizen could ever be really great who was not a gardener, or at least a tree planter? The coming winter and early spring will see many trees planted, some good and some better, but the 250th anniversary of Washington's birth will tell which trees were well chosen. We plant trees for the coming generations and not for quick effect and no knowledge or consideration of their future. Let us choose well or memorial trees.

The Spectator

is also an important factor in the project. Mr. Dougherty is the vice-president and manufacturing director of William F. Dougherty Sons Co., established nearly a hundred years ago in Philadelphia and now the largest enterprise of its kind in the country.

Henry P. Carr, up on Narberth Avenue hill, is another of the committee and his excellent prudence bespeaks his successful status as a stock broker, and good stocks only, says Henry, the air-filled kind which always rise, not at all the water-laden variety which so inevitably sinks to the bottom.

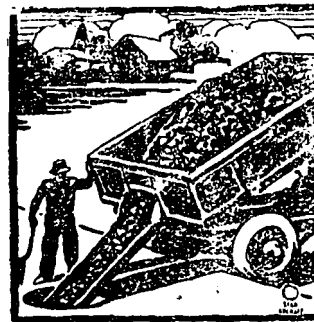

Lawrence Flick, Jr., editor and publisher, of Merion, seion and namesake of the physician who is world-famed as an expert in tuberculosis, a beloved benefactor of afflicted humanity, is also on the list, and so is Dr. Edward V. Wright, of Chestnut Avenue, well known in Narberth for many years, eminent in his dental profession in Philadelphia and pre-eminent as the proud possessor of a family of eight splendid children.

The younger generation is represented by David A. Lanahan, chosen to succeed his lamented father, Frederic A. Lanahan, who was one of the pioneers in the work and who was to the forefront in many of the Borough activities.

All in all, it would seem to be a group peculiarly well-suited and well-balanced for its unique task and the record should be of unusual interest to those alert for the new things and new ways of their own day and generation, particularly as the idea had its inception and first fling in our own beautiful bailiwick.

YOU CAN'T SINK A FLEET WITH ONE BROADSIDE!

If there is any branch of business where determination, pertinacity and plain every-day stick-to-it-ive-ness is needed, it is advertising.

The business man who goes into advertising with intentions of firing a salvo and returning to port is all mixed up in his battle plans. It takes more than one broadside to sink a fleet.

Advertising, to be successful and profitable, should be prudently planned, designed to fit the business, backed by good merchandise and service, and the whole carried out faithfully and continuously.

Miss Jean Adams Bride
Wednesday of Joseph Mulioli

The marriage of Miss Jean Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie S. Adams, 62 South Warner Avenue, Bryn Mawr, and Mr. Joseph Mulioli, of Haverhill, Mass., took place very quietly on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Mother Good Counsel Church, Bryn Mawr.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an Empire model of midnight blue velvet, with short puffed sleeves, with a hat of velvet the same shade as her gown, and slippers of midnight blue moire. She carried a prayer book and wore a corsage of lilies and rosebuds.

Miss Elizabeth McGrady, who acted as maid of honor, wore a gown of mulberry velvet with hat and slippers to match.

Mr. James Adams, a brother of the bride, acted as best man.

An informal reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Upon their return from a wedding trip, Mr. Mulioli and his bride will reside at the Winthrop Apartments Summit Grove Avenue, Bryn Mawr. They will be at home after November 1.

Start Rehearsals Soon

St. Margaret's Minstrels will hold forth for the first time since 1928 on December 1 and 2, 1931, in Narberth and on December 4, 1931, at the Penn Athletic Club in Philadelphia. Rehearsals will be conducted on Monday and Wednesday evenings during November.

Narberth School Notes

Narberth met her hardest opponent, Lower Merion Junior High, and was defeated in the soccer field for the first time on Monday by the score, 2-1. It was a more sensational battle than the week before when Lower Merion was beaten, 2-0. The only goal that was scored by Narberth was made by Tapp, but Lower Merion was a superior team on Monday. It is hoped that Narberth will have better luck when they play Pottstown Junior High School in football in Pottstown on Thursday, October 29.

R. W., 8th Grade.

Bus Passes

The bus passes for Narberth students attending Lower Merion Junior and Senior High Schools will be issued to Junior High School pupils on Monday afternoon (3 to 5 o'clock) and to the Senior High students on Tuesday afternoon at the same hours. Students not able to show passes will not be permitted to use the Narberth buses.

Club Notes

Every Wednesday the seventh and eighth grades have a period for clubs. Every child belongs to one.

One very interesting club is the Metal Work Club. They have chosen Richard Narrigan for president; Roll Phillips, vice president; Paul Tapp, secretary, and Flora Hultgren, treasurer. They are making designs for book ends. They expect to do some etching and repousse in copper and brass. Miss Gassner and Mr. Weatherall are directing this club which meets in the art room.

The Cooking Club has been organized by Miss Moore. The members of the Cooking Club have elected Betty Burgess, president; vice president, Carmella De Lucia; secretary, Frances Leech, and treasurer, Charlene Hause.

On Tuesday, October 20, they expect to go on a supper hike back in the woods. We are sorry to say that the home economics room is not furnished so they will not be able to use their room for a few weeks.

The Glee Club is planning a program of miscellaneous songs. They will start to practice for the Christmas program in November. There are nearly fifty children in it. The officers are: President, Billy Watson; manager, Louise Magee; secretary, Eunice Griswold; treasurer, Jill Caldwell; librarian, Jimmy Snyder. Naturally Miss Fricke is directing this club.

Another club which has drawn many boys as members is the Philatelic or Stamp Club. Mr. Harkness has kindly taken charge of the club.

The Archery Club is in charge of Miss Church. These pupils hope to learn to hit the bull's eye.

The Press Club prepares and edits the Sun Dial which appears monthly. This issue is an example of their work. The names of the members of this club appear on page two. Its work can be seen by all pupils, who we hope will show their school spirit by subscribing to the Sun Dial.

Junior Club Holds Gay
Hallowe'en Party

The Junior Community Club held a Hallowe'en party in the scout wing of the Community Building last Thursday evening. A hilarious evening of fun was enjoyed by about thirty members and guests. Costumes were colorful and varied and a grand march revealed that three were worthy of prizes—or rather, as there were only three prizes, it had to be limited to a judges' choice of three—which appeared rather difficult.

The judges, members of the Narberth Players' Club, awarded the prize for the most attractive costume to Miss Alberta Davis, who wore a gorgeous period gown of black taffeta trimmed with gold bands of ribbon. Miss Davis also wore a pearl head-dress. Two guests of the club won the prizes for the most amusing and the most original costumes and everyone was well applauded for ingenuity of attire. A balloon dance, some tricky games and a parody on "Jack and the Beanstalk," written by Mrs. James Moore, was staged and enjoyed. Miss Margaret Livingston, Miss Peg Kent and Mrs. Moore took part in the farce which caused great merriment. Regular Hallowe'en refreshments were served, and the party broke up at the witching hour, tired but happy.

The Juniors will have a movie benefit the week of November 2. Tickets for the shows "Bought" and "Merely Mary Ann" may be obtained from any Junior, good any night except Saturday.

Later in November a rummage sale will be held and Miss Alberta Davis, 202 Iona Avenue, will be very glad to receive a call from you if you have any clothes or other articles of which you care to dispose in the interest of a good cause.

The next meeting will be Thursday, November 12, at the Community Building and will be held in the interest of International Relations. A speaker will be present to give some interesting items of interest concerning events in other countries. Miss Margaret Kent, chairman of speaker programs, will have charge of the program, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark presiding in the chair.

Christian Science Topic

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in all churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 1. The Golden Text is, "The hope of the righteous shall be gladness; but the expectation of the wicked shall perish" (Proverbs 10:28).

Among the citations from the Bible is the following: "The son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son. But the father said to his servants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him; for this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found" (Luke 15:21, 22, 24).

To Main Line Business Folk

Value of Advertising During Period of Depression Stressed by U. S. Department of Commerce

In one of the few pronouncements of the kind ever issued, the United States Department of Commerce placed its seal of approval on intelligent advertising, with special emphasis on its value during a depression.

"Intangible assets may be decreased in value only when a firm fails to advertise," said an oral statement by the department. "The organization which advertises during depression will find its intangible assets worth more when the depression is over than before it started even though tangible assets may be reduced 50 per cent.

Looking Ahead

"Thus when business is again financially normal, this firm will be in better shape than it was before business dropped.

"Although it takes years to develop intangible assets, they may be reduced to little or no value in months. A trade-name may be the proverbial 'household word' today, but it may be forgotten and almost worthless in August, 1932, if it is not kept before the public through advertising.

Gives Illustration

"Two firms, A and B, may face a depression with equal tangible and intangible assets. After a year of subnormal business, A decides to decrease advertising because of decrease in tangible assets. B, with a similar decrease in tangible assets, continues advertising at a normal rate.

"Two years later the depression ends. Business returns to normal. A, expecting to see tangible assets increase, finds that loss of prestige, goodwill and public 'consciousness' toward their product requires several more years of intense exploiting before these intangible assets may be redeveloped, and that tangible assets will not return to normal until intangible assets have done so.

Benefits Pointed Out

"B, on the other hand, finds its product as well known and well liked as before the depression, and tangible assets pick up at once.

"Some firms value intangible assets at $1,000,000 or more. Others place an arbitrary value, such as $1, upon them. Their estimate is influenced by amount of dividends they wish to pay, condition of balance sheet, and figuring income tax. The tendency today is toward the lower estimate.

"Regardless of the estimated value, however, the organization which advertises normally during depression will find its tangible assets worth more when business booms than they were before the drop."

Mowrer Installed as Legion Commander

mitteemen, William H. Durbin and Walter P. Miesen.

Roland K. Hewitt, who was installed as finance officer, is district deputy (Ninth District) in charge of the Narberth Post and other Posts in the vicinity. He has served previously as adjutant and finance officer of the Narberth Post.

After the installation, District Commander Walt addressed the meeting. He discussed the important subject of the necessity of correcting erroneous impressions held by many people due to misstatements in the press, and attempts by non-Legionnaires to use the influence of the Legion for their own purposes. "It is a fact," said Mr. Walt, "that the Legion Constitution does not countenance the participation of the Legion as an organization in party politics. It cannot and does not forbid individual members from taking an active interest in local or national politics."

"It would not be assumed," he continued, "that because some members of a church or lodge favored a certain candidate, that the church or lodge endorsed that candidate. It would be unfair to ask men who fought for their country to forfeit their political rights in exchange for membership in the Legion. The Legion, in its national, State, or local units, has never, and never will, officially endorse any candidate for office. Any member, however, is at liberty to support any candidate or any party according to the dictates of his conscience. A further wise provision and safeguard of the integrity of the Legion lies in the rule that no man may hold an office in the Legion who holds a county or State office that has a salary attached."

Commander Mowrer announced the appointment of Past Commander Arthur L. Cooke as chairman of the House Committee, and of Vice Commander Greyer as chairman of the Membership Committee. C. J. Clarke, who retired as adjutant, was appointed service officer.

After the meeting refreshments were served to the members and guests. A delegation of eight members of the Narberth Bridge Club, headed by President E. C. Griswold, was entertained by the Legion. A series of bridge games closed the evening.

Speaking for the new officers, Commander Mowrer voiced the desire of the Legion to co-operate in all matters affecting the welfare of the community, and the hope that the Post would be regarded as an instrument of service to ex-service men and the town.

County Aid Granted
for Borough Roads

funds in the current budget which could be spared for street work. It was decided that about $3,000.00 of Borough money could be used this year for that work and therefore two sections of streets, costing about $6,000.00, were made the basis of the Borough's petition to the County.

Haverford Avenue was selected because the pavement there is getting badly worn and it is doubtful if it would have gone through this winter without giving trouble. It would have been resurfaced this year by the Borough but for the fact that the budget was curtailed in order to reduce the 1931 tax-rate. Windsor Avenue was selected for the remainder of the appropriation because there are several bad "rolls" in the surface, because the surface has settled the entire length where the water company opened a ditch several years ago, and because it is one of the important entrance streets of the Borough. The work calls for resurfacing both sections of street with "Specification E" which is the same surface which was laid on Wynnewood Avenue three years ago, and on several other streets two years ago. In all instances it has revealed better wearing qualities than any street surface previously used in the Borough.

This work will make it possible for the Borough to provide temporary employment for about eight men and for that purpose residents of Narberth will be employed exclusively. It will be the endeavor to select heads of families who have been out of employment for some time. Already the Borough office has received applications from many more eligible men than there are jobs, but every endeavor will be made to apportion the available work as fairly and as widely as possible. It will be impossible, of course, to hire any men who are not physically able to perform satisfactorily the rather heavy manual labor which will be required. Every hour will count in the endeavor to get the work done before freezing weather sets in, and there will be no opportunity to be lenient with men who are lacking in physical stamina.

In connection with the improvement on Windsor Avenue, the Borough has let to Frank Gioni a contract to install about 750 feet of new concrete curb on the south side of Windsor Avenue, and Mr. Gioni will be required by the Borough to hire Narberth labor only. He will have work for about three men and his job will probably be completed within a week. Mr. Gioni will be started on his work just as soon as word comes from the State, so that he will have the new curb completely installed while the Borough is doing the work on Haverford Avenue, and will be entirely out of the way when the Borough gang is ready to start on Windsor Avenue.

View Mr. Brown's Roses

The Penn Valley Garden Club visited the place of Mr. John Brown, on Moreno Road, on Wednesday morning. Mr. Brown has 421 rose bushes which he has raised from slips. Mr. Brown, who is 82 years old, does all the work of his garden himself. He also has a number of apple, pear and peach trees. Mr. Brown told the members of the Garden Club how to raise rose bushes from slips and presented each member with slips from his Radiant rose bush. The Garden Club members agreed that all who have not seen this wonderful rose garden should do so in the spring and early summer.
